

Water Antakshari

The class is divided into two teams. A different topic is chosen for each round and the boundaries are predefined, say Indian lakes or Asian rivers or waterfalls around the world or water bodies in Europe etc. In each round, the teams alternate and mention one name (according to the topic and within the defined boundary). The team that does not have an answer loses and the next round begins. Time restrictions can make the game go faster.